

WORKERS WILL HELP TO RAISE $28,770 HERE

The Gettysburg Furniture factory has donated $250 towards the Adams county War Fund drive and its manager, M. C. Jones, has contributed an additional $50. Mrs. Ellen Tipton Buehler, treasurer of the drive, announced today with the first list of contributions for the drive.

A total of $478.75 has been turned over to the treasurer so far. Other contributions include $100 from the Gettysburg and Harrisburg Transportation Company, $25 from Burgoon and Yingling canning factory; $13.75 from the employees of the Trostle Shirt factory; $25 from Mrs. C. A. Wills and $15 from Troop A, Pennsylvania State Police.

The Adams County War Fund Drive moved into its fourth day today with county officials well pleased with the progress so far.

At Gardners, Friday, employees of the C. H. Musselman plant pledged themselves to raise at least $500 for the War Fund following a mass meeting at which Manager Clair Shillito and Personnel Manager Paul Ecker joined with Dean W. E. Tilberg, chairman of the county USO and War Drive chairman Paul A. Kinsey in outlining to the workers the need for contributions to the drive.

At the same time a local Marine confirmed the fact that the USO is much appreciated by the men in service.

The United States Marines, and the famous "Lou" Diamond, who has fought in three wars, starting with the Spanish-American, with the Marines and who holds two Congressional Medals of Honor, unite in saying, "The USO is doing more for the boys in service than any other organization ever established."

Marine Lauds USO

That statement was made by Pfc. W. L. Michael Maines, Gettysburg college grad who joined the Marines in September and who is visiting the college at the present time. Private Maines reported that the Marines at Parris Island, South Carolina, where he underwent "boot" training, are unanimous in their praise of the USO. And the "boots" are outdone by the praise of veterans returned from the far-flung battlefronts on which the Marines are fighting. "Even at Guadalcanal the USO has followed the service men into the front lines to do a wonderful job," Maines said. Maines will receive a medical discharge from the Marines October 30. On November 1 he joins the Merchant Marine. Soon he expects to be able to report on the activities of Seaman's Relief, one of the 17 organizations which will share in Adams county's quota of $28,770 in the current drive.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Erney Myers, North Stratton street, who has been a patient at the Warner hospital for some time due to a leg infection, is reported to be considerably improved and will probably be discharged from the hospital within a week.

FRESH PORK IS SOLD TODAY AT FARMERS' MART

The first fresh pork of the season went on sale this morning at one stand in the Farmers' Market house. Business was rushing but was complicated by the necessity for buyers to turn over food stamps for their purchases.

The pork price list, in most instances below the OPA ceiling figures, follows: Tenderloin, 50 cents a pound; sausage, 48 cents; backbone, 28 cents; spareribs, 25 cents; liver, 22 cents; ham (slicing), 49 cents; ham (roasting), 45 cents; shoulder, 35 cents; lard, 20 cents; bacon, 31 cents; pudding, 35 cents; and scrap, 18 cents or two pounds for 35 cents.

A few stands offered tomatoes this morning at 10 and 15 cents a quart box and a few peaches could be had at 20 and 25 cents a box. Grapes brought 20 cents a box.

Popcorn on Sale

Fresh cider sold at 50 cents a gallon and new applebutter was on sale at 40 and 50 cents a quart or 25 cents a pint.

Apple prices held to a high level this morning with only top grades of some varieties available under the WPB ruling that sent grades under No. 1 in a number of varieties to the processing plants. While top grade Delicious and Stayman apples brought as high as $4 per bushel for packed fruit, some stands offered No. 1's in those varieties at from $1.50 to $1.75 per half bushel. Lower grade Delicious apples brought slightly lower prices. No. 2's selling at $1.25 a half bushel.

Popcorn appeared at two ears for five cents. Sweet potatoes were 20 cents a box and endive 20 cents a head. Celery was 20 and 25 cents a stalk. Red beets were 10 cents a bunch. Dressed chickens were on sale at from 50 to 58 cents per pound.

Fall flowers, chiefly marigolds and chrysanthemums, were on sale at some stands. Prices ranged upward from 25 cents a bouquet.

FIRE COMPANIES TO SEEK SCRAP

Four more Adams county fire companies have completed their organizations for salvage drives which will be conducted in the respective communities in the near future. It was announced today by Dr. Eugene Elgin, scrap chairman for the county. He listed salvage drive leaders for Biglerville, Bendersville, Centennial and Bonneville companies.

The officers for each follow: Biglerville—Captain, Earl Fohl; lieutenant, Emory H. Punt; secretary, Earl Garretson, and treasurer, B. B. Taylor.

Bendersville—Captain, Ward Taylor; lieutenant, Dewey E. McCauslin; secretary, Clyde B. Orner, and treasurer, Dale Crum.

Bonneville—Captain, Gervus Eck; lieutenant, Roy Shandbrook; secretary, H. F. Gebhart, and treasurer, T. A. Myers.

Doctor Elgin announced that Colley S. Baker, executive secretary for the state salvage committee, will be in Gettysburg next Thursday to address the Adams county Teachers' Institute on the scrap campaign.

MARKS BIRTHDAY

Service To Our Readers

The election proclamation for the November 2nd election published today on Page Eight is another feature of The Gettysburg Times.

The proclamation serves as the official notice of the election day in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Although no provision is made for the publication of the proclamation in The Gettysburg Times it is considered of sufficient and timely importance to present it as a service to our readers.

SCARCITY OF SHELLS WILL HIT HUNTERS

Gettysburg may have been "mild shot and shell" during the Civil war, but the shot and shell are scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth at the present moment, hardware dealers here agree.

Some go so far as to suggest that the county hunter planning to introduce some "pointless" meals into the menu by shooting rabbits or squirrels had better practice his marksmanship with a sling-shot.

War-time scarcity has cut the number of shells sold by one dealer from 50,000 a year to 5,000. Only by filling out one of the L-286 forms can a farmer or hunter obtain shells, and the number of applications that have been approved, while few, is still much greater than the number of shells that have been sent to fill the requests.

Farmers seeking shells to use against the traditional enemies of the agriculturist, the rat and other predatory animals, must wait for eight to ten weeks at least before they obtain the shells to which they are entitled, one dealer pointed out today.

Priority List

Because of the time lapse between the filling out of a form and the issuance of the shells, dealers are somewhat pessimistic about the chances of most hunters obtaining ammunition in time for the hunting season. Some hunters, who filed their applications early may have a chance, the dealers say—but again they feel the chances are slight.

As the situation now stands, they point out, the hunter comes last in the priority list. All shells must be sold on L-286 certificates. No. 1 is for law enforcement agencies. No. 2 is for defense plants; No. 3, for special guards; No. 4, the regular farmers' quotas; No. 5 an extra farmers' quota; and No. 6 the quota for hunters. But the hunter's quota can not be filled, the dealers point out, until the regular fourth quota for the farmer is filled.

Two College Students Elected To Who's Who

James L. Hafer and Mary L. Wentz, both of Gettysburg, are among the 12 seniors at Gettysburg college who are included in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," it was announced today.

Hafer is editor-in-chief of "The Gettysburgian," college weekly, and associate editor of the 1944 "Spectrum," "G-Book" and "Mercury." He was selected as an "outstanding junior" last year. Miss Wentz is a member of the publication staffs of the "Spectrum," "G-Book" and "The Gettysburgian." She has participated in many campus activities and is a member of the SCA cabinet.

STATE - FEDERAL MILK PRICE ROW AFFECTS 1,500

The Adams county Agricultural Conservation Office announced this week that an estimated 1,000 to 1,500 commercial producers of milk in Adams county will be eligible for federal payments of 40 cents per hundredweight for milk produced in October, November and December.

Urging the farmers to keep complete milk production records during those three months, the AAA office said details on the mechanics for making the payments are not known here but will be made through the county AAA committee.

The announcement said the payments were to be made "to offset the increase in feed costs and hold down the price of milk to the consumer."

The State Milk Control Commission order Friday increasing retail milk prices was of interest in this county where an estimated 12,000 cattle are producing milk and buttermilk amounting to about 6,000,000 gallons annually.

Enforcement Problem

Harrisburg, Oct. 23 (AP)—Flouting federal price ceiling regulations, the Milk Control Commission today stuck by its own adjustment program calling for material increases in wholesale and retail milk costs Nov. 1 in every section of Pennsylvania except Philadelphia.

"I would not attempt to say what will happen on the enforcement question when the price orders go into effect," declared Chairman John M. McKee on inquiry. "There is no use speculating on that now." The commission yesterday eliminated from previously issued orders a provision which recognized that federal approval is required for the two and three cent a quart retail boosts and an average increase to producers of about 90 cents a hundredweight (46½ quarts).

McKee said in a statement the commission disregarded the federal approval requirement in "an effort to stem the disastrous falling off in milk production which has been developing for some time and is now taking on most serious proportions."

Federal Subsidies Granted

The commission's action left milk dealers wondering what role they would play in the federal-state dispute. One representative of organized dealers pointed out compliance with both sides' rules was impossible and that dealers were open to prosecution whatever course they followed.

He said, however, that after the Florida State Milk Control Commission ordered price increases above OPA ceilings, the federal court ruled dealers must follow the federal agency's regulations and not the state's.

The original orders were to have gone into effect Oct. 1 but OPA and other federal agencies failed to give their approval. Federal subsidies to producers amounting to 40 cents a hundredweight have gone into effect but commission officials have branded them as insufficient.

Fourth Son Goes Into Army Today

Mrs. Bessie Jenkins, Gettysburg, R. 2, sent her fourth son to the Army this morning when 21-year-old Columbus Leslie Jenkins, Gettysburg R. 2, reported for active duty at the New Cumberland reception center.

Three older brothers entered the Army previously and two already are overseas. Christopher is stationed in Virginia while Clyde and Claude are serving at overseas posts.

11 SPEAKERS AT GOP MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

"The United States is a composite picture of the citizens," Edmund W. Wingerd, Esq., Chambersburg, told county Republicans Friday evening at a mass meeting in the court house. "The action of any one citizen betters or makes worse the nation as a whole."

"Political parties are nothing more than the ideas and aspirations of sections of the general public," Mr. Wingerd added, "and when one party follower does just a little better job for his nation than was done before, he raises the level of the whole party."

"There must be two strong parties, one to check on the activities of the other, if our democracy is to survive," he concluded in his talk on "Looking at the Fundamentals."

Predicts Long War

Congressman Chester Gross, York R. D. told the group that "We must face the stern reality that the war is not yet over and that the hardest part of it is ahead of us," in urging that more support be given the war effort. "We have not met the enemy in full force as yet," he said, claiming that testimony of military leaders before Congressional committees recently showed that "the end of the war is still a matter of years away."

State Senator Paul Crider, Chambersburg, spoke briefly while the candidates on the Republican ticket for county offices in November were introduced and made brief talks. Among the candidates were J. Price Oyler, George P. Taylor, J. Arthur Boyd, Winfield G. Horner, John Millhimes, Howard W. Sheffer, Arthur H. Shields and S. N. Keagy.

The meeting was sponsored by the Republican Women's Council of Adams County. County Chairman John H. Basehore introduced the speakers.

COUNTY SEAMAN BURIED ABROAD

Seaman Donald H. Starry, son of Arthur Starry, Aspers R. 1, was buried in the American Military cemetery in Brookwood, England, following his death in a base hospital in England on September 17, according to word received by the local Red Cross office today.

A letter from Miss Jean Parry Napier, stating that "It was a great shock to us all," gave details of the death of the young seaman after "everything known to medical science was done to save his life." The head nurse assigned the same nurses to his room constantly from the time of his admission after undergoing an appendectomy on the high seas so that he would always be with nurses whom he knew. "After putting up a brave fight," he became worse on September 16, lapsed into unconsciousness and died the following day. "He did not suffer," Miss Napier wrote. A letter expressing her sympathy to the parents from a Mrs. Netta R. Kerr, a British Red Cross volunteer, was enclosed in Miss Napier's letter.

Local Red Cross officials are turning over the letters to Seaman Starry's parents.

COLLEGE GRAD GETS AIR MEDAL

First Lt. Joseph L. Dunkelberger, New Bloomfield, an alumnus of Gettysburg college in the class of 1940, has been awarded an Air medal by Lt. Gen. George C. Kennedy, commander of the Allied Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dunkelberger, New Bloomfield R. 2.

The award was made for "meritorious achievement while participating in more than 25 operational flight missions in the Southwest Pacific area during which hostile contact was probable and expected." He is serving with a troop carrier squadron of the Fifth Air Force.

Most of the operations in which the New Bloomfield flier took part consisted of dropping supplies and transporting troops at low altitudes and over mountainous terrain to advanced positions, often within a short distance of enemy lines.

Now 24 years of age Lieutenant Dunkelberger was an officer in the Infantry before he gave up his rating to enter the Air Corps. He has been in foreign service since last January and is now believed to be in New Guinea.

The flier's wife and their small daughter, Loyce Jean, are residing at Canton, Mississippi, for the duration.

Only Adults May Sign For War Book 4

Only adults can sign the application for War Ration Book No. 4, Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the county rationing board, said today. While any adult member of a family may sign the application for all members of the family, children may not, he pointed out.

At the same time Chairman McPherson said that the number of pledges available in the county is small and some schools may run short of the number of pledges needed. In those cases, he said, the teacher should take a list of the names and addresses of those wishing to sign the pledge and send the list to the local War Price and Rationing board which will later send the pledge to the persons appearing on the lists.

MILLION NAZIS FACE DISASTER IN SOVIET TRAP

By JUDSON O'QUINN

London, October 23 (AP)—The fleeing hordes of Adolf Hitler, outsmarted and cut to pieces by smashing Soviet forces along almost the entire eastern front, are in imminent peril of suffering their biggest disaster since the Red Army launched its sweeping summer offensive.

The Nazis' lengthy retreat to the Dnieper river defense line was made with not too great a loss and in a rather orderly fashion, in the opinion of London military observers, but the Germans now face annihilation at the hands of the Red Army in the trap at the Dnieper bend, at outflanked Kiev and Gomel, and below the Dnieper elbow and in the Crimea when Melitopol falls.

1,500,000 Involved

According to estimates based on reports from the battlefield, possibly 1,500,000 Germans face entrapment.

Red Army columns have slashed their way to within 31 miles of Dnepropetrovsk to the northwest and were within 18 miles of Krivoi Rog, a Russian commune said today.

Below Kiev, swift tank spearheads smashed out from their bridgehead at Pereyaslav to lengthen the northern pincer arm around the Dnieper bend. More than 50 towns were liberated and the important rail line between Dnepropetrovsk and Krivoi Rog was severed. Other Soviet units were within 16 miles of Znamenska, rail terminal to the northwest and an important point in the Nazi communications setup.

In the most stubbornly contested battle since Stalingrad the Red Army has the Nazis backed up to the northern edge of Melitopol. The city is in flames, Moscow reports said. Fierce street-to-street fighting continues.

Furious Assaults

The Ukrainian capital of Kiev, principal German base along the middle Dnieper is slowly being strangled in a Red Army pincer movement and Gomel, strategic enemy defense base, has been bypassed in the Soviet offensive into White Russia.

Fall of these centers would mean an end to the German reign in the Ukraine, the Crimea and even in southern Russia, with the Red Army gaining another wedge in its drive toward the old Polish frontier west of White Russia.

If the Germans keep up their furious pace of counter-attacks against the Russian steamroller, it was reasoned here, there will be little time for them to organize their next line of defense, and they may be driven out of Russia entirely.

Scouts And F.F.A. To Collect Scrap

Announcement was made today that the South Mountain chapter of the Future Farmers of America and Boy Scout Troop 70 of Arendtsville, will replace the Arendtsville fire company in collecting scrap in Arendtsville and vicinity.

Beginning next week periodic collections of tin cans, newspapers, magazines, cartons, cardboard and metal will start. Luther Lady is scoutmaster of the troop and Jack Clinch is adviser to the FFA group.

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 23 (AP)—American artillery—the "Queen of the Battle" from Africa through Sicily—crushed a Nazi counterattack at Alife on the Fifth Army's right wing in Italy yesterday, knocking out "a number of A tanks," and in the central sector Fifth Army troops have seized commanding heights, it was announced today.

This was the first appearance of German tanks in any number in some time, but Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring's counterattack failed as did a similar effort on the Eighth Army front near Montecifone.

Sink 5 Nazi-Controlled Vessels

The Germans, now firmly entrenched in their new mountain positions, launched a series of counterblows designed to throw the Fifth and Eighth Armies off balance. Allied troops not only beat off every attack, but Eighth Army forces advanced two miles to take Lupara, which controls high ground in central Italy.

In sea actions, small units of the American and British Navies, including U. S. patrol torpedo boats, sank, captured or damaged five Nazi-controlled vessels. The torpedo boats darted far up the northwest coast of Italy near Leghorn from new bases in the Mediterranean to make their raid.

In the air, Allied bomber fleets continued their Balkan campaign, bombing the Nazi airdrome at Elevisis near Athens.

The Allied communique said Fifth Army troops had captured commanding heights in the central sector of their front and "are exploiting this gain," but did not identify the area.

The heaviest fighting yesterday occurred near Alife, captured earlier in the drive up the bend of the Volturno river.

Kesselring brought up some of his seldom-seen tanks, backed up by infantry and artillery, and lashed out in what Fifth Army headquarters described as "a very active manner." But the American big guns, which caused such great havoc in German ranks particularly in the latter phases of the Tunisian fight, brought the Nazi thrust to a standstill with heavy losses.

Fee Entrenches

"There is no question now but that the Germans are firmly established in a number of strongly-held positions all along the front," an Allied officer declared.

German divisions are holding an almost solid line along the Fifth Army front barring the approaches to Rome, while against the Eighth Army they have adopted a practice of holding a series of powerfully-defended heights with their guns completely controlling all the approaches.

On the whole, the land fighting is not on a large scale as both sides prepared for the next phase of the campaign.

Lupara taken by the British is nine miles southwest of Larino.

Intercept Convoys

British troops occupied Lupara, nine miles southwest of Larino, and beat off an enemy counterattack upon Montecifone.

The swift torpedo boats, making their first announced foray into the waters off the neck of Italy, intercepted German convoys Tuesday and Wednesday night in the Leghorn area, a naval communique said. Leghorn is 150 airline miles above Rome on the west coast.

Charging in Tuesday night upon a northbound convoy consisting of a small tanker, an "F" lighter and three "R" boats, the torpedo boats scored a hit on the lighter and possibly on the tanker. Retaliatory fire from the convoy was "inaccurate and they eventually engaged each other," a communique said.

The next night, the torpedo boats intercepted a southbound convoy of three "F" lighters and four small escorts, torpedoing one of the lighters. The American craft escaped without damage or casualties.

Operating in the Adriatic, British destroyers sank a Yugoslav trawler carrying a German armed guard off the Albanian coast and in a sweep off the same area the next night captured an enemy merchant vessel, the communique said.

In Italy, medium bombers attacked railways near Grosseto, 90 miles above Rome near the Mediterranean coast, and Orvieto, 60 miles north of the capital, yesterday.

AT AIR CORPS CENTER

Swallows Open Safety Pin

Theresa Keller, six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller, Gettysburg R. 5, was rushed to the Graduate School of the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia, this morning for the removal of an open safety pin.

SWEDISH PLANE SHOT DOWN BY FIGHTER SHIP

Stockholm, October 23 (AP)—A Swedish airliner flying from London to Stockholm was shot down in flames late last night on Sweden's rocky west coast, presumably by a German fighter plane, killing 13 persons, one a California clergyman.

The plane crashed near Haalo.

The American was Dr. T. C. Hume, of Claremont, California.

The craft's radio operator had time only to send a brief, dramatic message saying "We have been shot down" before the plane was smashed to bits on the rocks.

Two Are Rescued

One crew member and one passenger, a Swedish sailor named Olson, were thrown clear and were rescued by fishermen. The dead were not immediately identified.

Late last August another Swedish transport plane flying from England to Stockholm disappeared and is believed to have been shot down over the sea.

There was no radio communication from the plane last night indicating trouble of any kind prior to the single sentence telling of the attack.

Besides the American, the plane's passengers included one Englishman, two Swedes and two women members of the Russian legation in Stockholm with four of their children.

The rescued mechanic, named Grupp, described the shooting and crash.

Burns Like Torch

He said: "Our Douglas DC-3 was pursued and shot down at about 10:35 p. m. by a military plane of unidentified nationality. During the next ten minutes our pursuer sent three cannon and machine-gun blasts into our plane.

"One engine was hit and the wings caught fire. The pilot gave the order to land on the water. We opened the door and got the rubber dinghy ready, but before we were able to land the second engine quit, making it impossible to maneuver the ship. She crashed into the rocks and broke in half. She continued to burn like a torch."

Officials of the Aero Transport Company said all Swedish civilian planes are clearly marked as such and are painted a bright orange.

RAILROADERS MAY CALL FOR A STRIKE VOTE

(By The Associated Press)

Leaders of the five operating railroad unions, with a membership of 350,000 appeared in favor of a strike vote today and elsewhere on the labor front wildcat strikes had more than 35,000 coal miners idle.

Spokesmen for the brotherhoods were said to have rejected a proposal of a four-cent-an-hour increase. Union leaders were represented as expressing the belief that a strike vote was the only method for a showdown in their demands with the managements.

A joint meeting of all rail union leaders was expected today on a resolution recommending the strike poll and its rejection of the pay raise suggestion.

Four of the five brotherhoods have rejected the four-cents-an-hour raise proposal, according to the head of the switchmen's union. Action on the strike poll was deferred until today because the trainmen's brotherhood was not represented at a meeting yesterday.

Wildcat coal strikes spread yesterday to Pennsylvania, Illinois and Kentucky, where 4,000 more workers walked out. The total of men idle included 20,000 in Alabama, 3,000 in Indiana, 7,700 in Kentucky, 1,650 in Ohio, 1,200 in Pennsylvania, 1,400 in Illinois and 400 in Arkansas.

JAPS PASTED WITH 221 TONS OF U.S. BOMBS

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 23 (AP)—Death was strewn among concentrations of Japanese soldiers and their quarters were leveled Thursday by 221 tons of bombs in the biggest display of American aerial destructiveness ever concentrated in a single day of the New Guinea jungle war.

Reinforced enemy troops at Sattelberg, 15 miles northwest of Australian-won Finschhafen, came under the bombsights of Liberator heavy bombers in a raid announced today by General MacArthur's headquarters.

Twenty-five of 28 buildings were blown up. The others were damaged badly.

Human Targets

Never before have Liberators struck in such numbers around Finschhafen. Never before have Japanese soldiers in the New Guinea jungles been pocketed into such a large human target for the four-engine bombers.

But military leaders foresee still more heavy ground fighting in the sector. The Japanese reinforcements are believed to have infiltrated into Sattelberg's dense jungle area from the north after failing to arrive in time to prevent the fall of Finschhafen to the Aussie Ninth Division October 2.

Still more American air power was unleashed against Japanese air bases in the northern Solomons. Three times in one day, medium bombers, torpedo bombers, dive-bombers and fighters swarmed over Kara airdrome at Buin, on Bougainville, tearing up the runway, blowing up anti-aircraft batteries and destroying five parked planes.

BOMBING WORK DIFFICULT SAYS ARMY MEDICO

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

The Associated Press

Philadelphia, Oct. 23—The unusual physical strain on men who bomb Berlin was described today to the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States by Major General David N. W. Grant, air surgeon.

General Grant is in charge of the health of all the Army Air Forces. His 10,000 medical officers have the job of keeping the fliers from breaking down under the strain as well as the health of all aviation ground forces.

Watching a Flying Fortress pass overhead, General Grant said, makes the business of flying bombs to Berlin appear quite simple.

"One look into the pilot's cabin of a B-17 will convince you that its flight is actually an engineering operation demanding manual and mental skills which put the driving of an automobile in the kiddy-car class.

Many Gadgets

"The compartment is lined—front, sides, ceiling and part of the floor with controls, switches, levers, dials and gages. I once counted around 130.

"The coordinated operations of all gadgets would be difficult in the swivel-chair comfort of your office. But cut the size of your office to a five-foot cube, engulf it in the roar of four 1000-horse-power engines, increase your height to around four or five miles.

"Then get into a flying suit, gloves and shoes all heated by electricity, put on a helmet with earphones, cover your eyes with goggles and the rest of your face with an oxygen mask containing a microphone, strap on your parachute, and it might be well to add about 16 pounds of body armor.

"That will give you an idea of the normal conditions under which these men work out the higher mathematical relationships of engine revolutions, manifold and fuel pressure, aerodynamics, barometric pressure, altitude, wind drift, air speed, ground speed, position, and direction.

Fear of Death

"You may have to face an occasional pain from ears, bends, or intestinal gas expansion, a touch of dizziness, numbness from cold, or the subtle comatosity of anoxia (lack of oxygen).

"There will be interruptions to man machine guns against enemy attacks. Also due allowance must be made for a stream of machine gun bullets or the burst of ack-ack shells in your immediate vicinity.

"And as the final touch to this bizarre picture of intense concentration, add the fear of death."

American's Day Starts With Breakfast

American crystal never asks the time of day. You can set it out for breakfast, again for lunch, dinner, and all other times when food or drink is in order. It sparkles and glorifies any setting and is sturdily made to endure hard usage. Another virtue is its amazing low price. Still another, it is open stock. You can always match and add. So can one for whom you buy American as a gift.

GEORGIA TECH, NAVY MEET IN TOP EAST GAME

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Coach Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech is the only mentor who fears Navy today but virtually every football coach in the country is afraid of the Navy orders which various trainee-players will receive next week.

Hardly a team is expected to escape unscathed from the shuffle of grid talent which the Navy department will make following the "graduation" of the sailor-athletes in their nautical studies.

But Alexander will postpone his worries about the orders until later. Tonight his Georgia Tech outfit tangles with Navy's powerhouse outfit in the Baltimore Stadium before 45,000 fans. The Dixie Engineers, humiliated by Notre Dame early in the season, 55 to 13, will be seeking an "A" grade in gridiron-ology by turning in an upset.

Top Game

While their game is the major one in the east, Southern California and College of the Pacific tangle on the west coast with a Rose Bowl bid in the offing. Neither of the western outfits has been defeated this fall and both are bolstered by Navy talent that may be shunted elsewhere in the coming week. The day's biggest throng of 60,000 is expected.

Notre Dame, sparked by Trainee Angelo Bertelli, takes on civilian Illinois and Northwestern puts Otto Graham on display against Ohio State, another strictly collegiate outfit.

Army moves into the Yale Bowl to help bid farewell to Capt. Tim Hoopes of the Ellis, who becomes a Marine next week.

Bill Daley, ex-Minnesota great but now playing for Michigan, ends his career as a Wolverine by opposing his former Gopher mates in a Midwest natural that has the little brown jug as the trophy.

Two schools who seldom made the headlines until the Navy lend-lease was devised, Southwestern of Texas and Southwestern of Louisiana, will entertain 20,000 at Houston and Penn's crew of V-12 and V-5 athletes are the guest of Columbia's battered eleven in New York.

Other Games

Other games in the south have Louisiana State and Georgia meeting for the second time this season, Georgia Pre-Flight playing North Carolina Pre-Flight, Tulane bumping into Southern Methodist, Tulsa working out against Utah and Texas meeting Rice.

In the East, Cornell and Colgate are paired at Syracuse and Penn State treads to Maryland.

Iowa has little opposition to offer Purdue and Indiana is expected to find Wisconsin almost as easy in the midwest. March Field and Washington, another pair of undefeated western outfits, are opponents while other games in the sunset area are St. Mary's Pre-Flight vs California and Colorado college vs Colorado.

In a couple of Friday night games unbeaten and untied Drake won its fourth straight game by defeating William Jewell, 27 to 19, at Des Moines. Bucknell nosed out Temple, 7 to 6, at Philadelphia. Temple led until midway of the last quarter when Tackle Walter Snot intercepted a pass and ran 41 yards to the Temple four. Dick Hoffman bucked over for the tying touchdown and Jim Worst kicked the winning point from placement.

Soldiers and sailors quartered in this country eat an average of one egg a day per man.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Although he hasn't seen anything like a complete report, Secretary Dan Ferris thinks that the AAU civilian physical fitness program this summer was a tremendous success. . . . and Yale's Bob Kipphut, who handled it in Connecticut, estimates that some 250,000 certificates will be awarded to folks who risked bucked shins and housemaid's knee to prove that they weren't in as bad shape as they always had thought.

The season is about over for track and field tests, but the program is moving indoors for swimming, gymnastics, weight lifting, etc. In case you want to try your strength. . . . Zeke Bonura has been awarded the Legion of Merit medal by General Eisenhower for organizing a baseball program in the Mediterranean area. If these were normal times, you could count on Zeke holding out for the Silver Star next season.

NATURAL ERROR

The other day the Auburn, N. Y., Citizen-Advertiser ran a picture of Joe McCarthy under the caption: "All America future book." . . . And probably the makeup man caught the devil for not deleting the word "future."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Football's Saturday afternoon broadcasts have a combined Crosley rating of 42—or about double that of the highest-paid entertainers. . . .

Sportsman's park, the St. Louis baseball orchard, once housed a half-mile race track (page Judge Landis) as well as a shoot-the-shoots, which is probably what the Cardinals stepped on during the World Series. . . . When asked about the prospects for the 1944 major league season recently, Paul Waner answered: "Who knows? I may be a $100,000 beauty next spring." . . . Illinois sports scribbles are plugging 17-year-old Eddie Bray, Illinois left half, for the "kids all America." . . . Says one: "He might score eight out of ten times as a post-runner (with a strong team). What's more, he can—and likes to—tackle."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

John Berkebile, Burlington (Ia) Hawk-Eye Gazette: "The University of Iowa Hawkeyes last Saturday all but eliminated Hunchy Hoernschemeyer, the great Indiana passer, as all America fodder, which secretly brings great rejoicing to sports headline writers—who have been trying all season, without success, to squeeze Hunchy's name into any of the type faces back in the composing room."

COUPLE OF GOOD SCOUTS

In accordance with the Big Six conference's non-scouting agreement, Coach Dewey Luster of Oklahoma recently mailed the Sooner "A" formation and single wing diagrams to Kansas State's Ward Haylett in preparation for their football tilt today and Haylett sent Luster Kansas State's Warner formation. . . . Then last Monday "Shorter" decided to put in some plays from a balanced line and wired Haylett. . . . That same night Luster was wearing a broad grin as he displayed Haylett's reply: "We are taking up the T formation this week."

Among the 20 candidates who answered the first basketball call at Mitchell Field, Long Island, were only five former Long Island university players—Pvt. Si Lobello, Lenny and Howie Rader and Stan Waxman and W. O. Max Scharf. Ossie Schechtman won't turn out, until later. . . . Abe Feldman, who used to be a pretty good heavy-weight, is back in his Schenectady, New York, coal business after getting a medical discharge from the Coast Guard. . . . Lieut. Whitey Hlad, the hurler, is a meteorologist at a southern Army air field and hopes to be able to enter some of the indoor track meets this winter.

When Jerry Exley, a Portland, Oregon, prep coach, got a look at some of the huskies his "po' little boys" were scheduled to play recently, he wise-cracked: "I'm going to start all freshmen and then the kids will have three full years in which to recover." . . . Might be a hint for Lou Little.

LUCKMAN AND BAUGH AFTER AERIAL GAINS

By TED MEIER

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Those masters of the forward pass—Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins and Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears—should have a field day tomorrow in the National Football league.

Baugh, who tossed four touchdown passes last Sunday as the Redskins routed the Green Bay Packers, goes against the hapless Chicago Cardinals on his home gridiron at Washington. Luckman, who has thrown nine touchdown aeriels in four games, faces the punchless Brooklyn Dodgers at Chicago.

Like the Cardinals, the Dodgers have lost four straight games. The Cards, however, have scored 24 points whereas the Dodgers haven't even chalked up a safety, let alone a touchdown.

719 Yards Passing

Against much tougher opposition Baugh has completed 29 to 52 passes for a gain of 357 yards, while Luckman has completed 38 in 69 tries.

Perhaps the outstanding game of the day pits the New York Giants against the Phil-Pitt combine at the Polo grounds in New York. Before their walloping at the hands of the Bears last week the Eagles trounced the Giants, 28 to 14, at Philadelphia, a defeat the Giants are determined to avenge tomorrow in their first home game of the season. A crowd of between 40,000 and

Wildcats To Meet Lakehurst Blimps

Villanova, Pa., October 23 (AP)—Villanova college is a heavy favorite to trounce the Blimps from the Lakehurst Naval Air Station here tonight at 8:30 p. m. before an expected 15,000 fans.

The Wildcats pulled a 12-8 decision out of the fire to beat Bucknell last Saturday while the Blimps went down under a wave of Pennsylvania touchdowns.

SPORTS

STATE MEETS MARYLAND
College Park, Md., Oct. 23 (AP)—Penn State and Maryland, two football teams with only a single triumph between them for the year's effort, met today as the feature of the Terrapins' homecoming celebration. The Pennsylvanians, off their game with Navy a week ago, are the favorites. Pat McCarthy, regular Maryland end, was benched because of injuries.

DIPLOMATS FAVORED
Lancaster, Pa., October 23 (AP)—An undefeated Franklin and Marshall football team is favored to beat Muhlenberg college here today in the annual P and M Homecoming Day game. The Diplomats rolled to a 20-to-0 victory over the Mules at Allentown last week-end.

50,000 is anticipated by the Giants' front office.

At Briggs stadium in Detroit, the Green Bay Packers hope to rebound from their 33-7 Washington defeat at the expense of the Detroit Lions. If Frankie Sinkwich is in form, the Lions may erase some of the sting of an earlier 35-14 setback at the hands of the Packers.

BIGLER LOSES TO WEST YORK BY 12-6 SCORE

An intercepted pass by E. Lease on the second play of the second half followed by a 25-yard run for a touchdown gave West York high a 12-6 victory over Biglerville high in a Lower Susquehanna conference game played Friday night on the victor's field.

Coach Rog Smith's Cannons scored first when they tallied about three minutes after the game started. The Cannons swept downfield on a series of end runs and line thrusts and then Yost passed 15 yards to Dixon over the goal line for a score. On the first try for the extra point Biglerville put the ball over on a line plunge but the upper countians were off-side and on the second attempt West York held.

West York tied up the score in the second period when straight football put the pigskin deep in Biglerville territory. Berkheimer finally going off tackle for 16 yards to score standing up. A line play failed for the extra point.

After the home team scored on its interception in the third quarter scoring halted with neither team being able to muster enough punch for a score.

The play of Zartman, lanky left-end for West York, was particularly outstanding. Time and again he broke up potential Biglerville rallies with fine defensive work. The punting of C. Lady featured for the Cannons.

Next Friday evening Biglerville plays Lower Paxton on the latter's field.

Bucknell Defeats Temple Owls 7-6

Philadelphia, October 23 (AP)—A fourth quarter pass interception by Bucknell university's co-captain, Walter Snot, and a perfect place kick by Quarterback Jim Worst gave the Bisons a 7-to-6 victory over an underdog Temple Owl team before 5,000 fans in Temple stadium last night.

Snot snagged an Owl pass on the second play of the fourth quarter and raced diagonally across the field from the Temple 45 to the four. Gene Hubka carried the ball for two more yards on an off-tackle smash and Dick Hoffman went over standing up on the next play.

Temple scored their lone tally in the second period after recovering a Bucknell fumble on the Bisons' four.

Swarthmore After Third Victory

Swarthmore, Pa., October 23 (AP)—Swarthmore college with two wins already tucked away for the season is favored to beat City college of New York when the two meet on the gridiron this afternoon, for the first time in the history of the two schools.

Swarthmore holds decisions over Ursinus and Muhlenberg, while the New Yorkers have won over Brooklyn college.

LAFAYETTE FAVORED

DELONE DOWNED BY LANCASTER

A blocked kick which was recovered by Lancaster Catholic and turned into a touchdown in the second period gave the host team a 6-0 victory over Delone Catholic in a game played at Lancaster Friday night.

Coach Jake Dracha's tribe attempted a quick kick near the Squires' 30-yard stripe but the boot was blocked and a Lancaster player recovered and streaked over the goal line.

Delone held a 9-5 edge in first downs and pushed the Lancaster outfit all over the field but broke down when scoring opportunities presented themselves.

Once again the entire Delone line played an outstanding game with Punk and Hen Noel sparking the offense.

LOGISTICS

I'm an ordinary fellow with an ordinary mind.
I'm sure to run a global war, I'm not the clever kind,
For when I get to thinking (and I do that now and then),
I wonder how they ever feed so many fighting men.

When I'm in need of anything—say mulligan, or nails
Or shoes or shirts or underwear—I go to bargain sales.
But, when that march to Tunis under Eisenhower began
How did they feed and house and clothe and arm the fighting man?

How do they feed an army when the battle once begins?
Who sees the wounded are supplied with bandages and pins?
It's easy living here at home where life is in a groove,
But who brings all the stores along for soldiers on the move?

The Solomons, New Guinea, in Australia and Attu,
In Italy and Africa! Here's what I wish I knew:
Who thinks of all our boys who need and has it near at hand?
Ah, that's a job too big for minds like mine to understand!

BELLS

I am wondering about the influence that bells have had upon the human race. A collection of bells is a story of the human race in its aspiration toward a higher and happier plane of living. The American Liberty Bell proclaimed its right to liberty throughout the world.

Nothing is more inspiring than the ring of the church bells on a Sunday morning. Especially is this noticeable in a small town, where the activity comes to such a rest, with the call of the bells heralding peace and good will to all. There is religion in their very sounds.

The bells of the cathedrals, of the old missions, and other sanctuaries, have always had a tone of their own, as though inspired. Poets and writers have taken bells as the theme for many a masterpiece. Poe's "Bells," for example, and Lafcadio Hearn's beautiful story, "The Soul of the Great Bell," as told in his book "Chinese Ghosts."

And what a thrill many of us get from the memory of the sleigh bells that sang out their merry tones across the snows of winter. Or that melancholy ring of the cow-bell that told so much, Sir Richard Burton tells of "the tinkling of the Camel bell" in his great poem "The Kasidah."

To this very day in Nova Scotia, I always welcome the sound of the bells that hang from the necks of those noble oxen as they proudly tread the roads of that Province. Then there are the ship bells that tell of the divisions of time upon the ships, and the bells in harbors and at dangerous points that ring their warning of danger.

Almost every phase of emotion that moves through the heart of man is reproduced in the many bells that distribute their sounds to the air.

I regret the passing of the old-fashioned bells that were extended upon an outreaching support and which were rung from outside of a house. In New Orleans and Charleston, South Carolina, I once bought samples of these bells, they fascinated me so. And they had such a cheery ring—as though saying: Happy tidings to you—come in!

Let us hope and pray that soon the bells, at Christmas time—all over the world—will yet sing out: "Peace on earth and good will to all men."

FORESEE COAL STRIKE SOON

Pittsburgh, Oct. 23 (AP)—With production of coal at its highest level in the last two months, the bituminous mining industry in western Pennsylvania today faced the possibility of another crippling walk-out in the near future unless the national contract controversy is cleared up.

Leaders of the United Mine Workers (UMW) and the operators declined to be quoted but agreed "off the record" that a general strike Monday was "entirely possible."

The district had two walkouts yesterday involving 1,200 men. One of the stoppages was settled when 600 men returned to work in the Mather Coal company mine in Green county. Another 600 men at the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal company's Lucerne No. 3 mine at Homer City, Indiana county, voted last night to remain on strike until their grievance against local conditions was settled. The mine is completely mechanized.

Mine officials said both walkouts were local in nature, but that settlement of the issues involved might be delayed by the contract background.

A number of Washington county officials and union executives, including Sheriff C. O. Williams, Mayor J. Brady Marble of Washington, Pa., County Commissioner John N. O'Neil and William R. McGinnis, secretary of the Washington Teamsters union, telegraphed a request to President Roosevelt that miners be given a wage increase above the provisions of the Little Steel Wage formula.

WITH AND WITHOUT

Pleasanton, Calif. (AP)—California now has the town of Shoemaker without a postoffice, and the postoffice of Shoemaker without a town. It's like this:

The postoffice designation, of "Shoemaker, Calif.," was adopted to handle an overflow of Navy mail at Pleasanton. Actually the mail would be handled at nearby Oakland.

Then someone discovered there really is a town named Shoemaker in California—without a postoffice. But until further notice, the arrangement still goes.

NO WINNERS

It has been said that the true man of the sea feels towards his ship as he does towards the woman he loves and marries. You take her for better or for worse, and you don't walk out on her when the going gets tough. This is the theme around which Columbia's "Destroyer," which is coming to the Majestic theater next Monday is built.

Advance reports indicate that it is the usual adventure story of American fighting men aboard a "hunk of tin with a heart," starring Edward G. Robinson in the role of a Chief Boatswain's Mate who becomes fanatically devoted to his ship. Marguerite Chapman, Glenn Ford and Edgar Buchanan are featured in support of Mr. Robinson.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Set against the background of the snow-capped mountains of Canada, "Wintertime," 20th Century-Fox's new musical starring Sonja Henie, which will start its run at the Majestic theater Wednesday, is a tune-ful comedy that has plenty of laughs, pretty girls and lilting songs.

In addition to Sonja Henie, the cast includes Jack Oakie, with wisecracks and advice galore; Cesar Romero, dashing after and away from the women as usual; Carole Landis, lovely and still after her man, and Woody Herman and his famous orchestra.

Glenn Harmon, of York, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harmon.

Court Asked To Stay Second Suit

Pittsburgh, October 23 (AP) —

U. S. District Federal Court is considering a motion filed by the government yesterday asking it to stay proceedings in a $1,000,000 "informer suit" instituted in March by Herman W. Cogan, of Chicago, against the Carnegie-Illinois steel Corporation.

The government filed a separate damage suit against the steel corporation October 13 and noted that the two actions include the same subject matter. A hearing on the motion is set for November 8.

Cogan's suit, based on a Civil War statute which provides an informer will receive one-half the damages collected, was filed a few days after the Senate Truman Committee charged the company's Irwin works had supplied sub-specification steel ship plates to government agencies.

ROBBERS OVERLOOK $2,000

Philadelphia, Oct. 23 (AP)—Safe crackers stole $2,940 from a safe in the offices of the Samuel Lessner and company, pipe contracting firm, yesterday but missed an additional $1,635 in another compartment of the safe and $425 which police found lying on the floor. Officials of the firm said $5,000 had been withdrawn from a bank to meet a payroll.

NO BLANKET DEFERMENTS

Philadelphia, October 23 (AP)—

There will not be a blanket deferment for Pennsylvania employees of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, of Camden, New Jersey, Pennsylvania Selective Service headquarters has notified Philadelphia draft boards.

The announcement was made by Pennsylvania Selective Service officials after hundreds of complaints were received alleging that New Jersey had granted blanket deferments to New Jersey workers at the shipyards.

The alleged blanket deferment for New Jersey workers was later denied by Major Edgar E. Lewis, deputy director of the state's selective service system.

Major Lewis' prepared statement definitely declared "no" blanket deferments are contemplated." Meanwhile, John G. Pew, vice-president of the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, of Chester, Pennsylvania, said the company's production will be impaired if induction of skilled help is continued. He added that he planned to go to Washington, if necessary, to get permission to retain skilled workers.

First with the Truth
from inside
The Balkans!

Risking capture and death, Daniel De Luce, veteran Associated Press war reporter, stole into the Balkans and came back with the first eyewitness accounts of events there in two and a half years.

Getting the truth out of Axis-held countries is nothing new for De Luce who has had to flee before German, Italian and Japanese forces in Poland, Greece and Burma during this war.

De Luce returned to the European continent recently with British invaders of southern Italy and drove 100 miles through No-Man's land in a jeep to make the first contact between the British 8th Army and the American 5th Army at Salerno.

"It is a privilege to be a war correspondent," De Luce once wrote, "and no reporter shrinks from taking the chances of his assignment."

De Luce, typifying AP correspondents the world over, has kept his word since the war began.

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

Don't wait for a collision with your car to demonstrate that one head on your shoulder is enough.

Probably you know that the carburetor idling mixture should not be adjusted until the engine is normally warmed up, but it's a bet that your rules do not include the one about resetting the throttle stop screw after obtaining the best mixture possible. Usually the mixture can be changed until the engine idles slower, but since the throttle stop screw also has much to say about this it, too, must be taken into consideration. If the carburetor is of the dual type both of the idle screws should be turned out the same number of times.

Three to Remember

Quick stops wear the rear tire tread prematurely because when car weight tips forward the rear end lightens, giving the rear wheels less traction and encouraging tire sliding as a consequence.

It is important to bear in mind that the greater the front-wheel camber angle the more toe-in is required.

If oil consumption is suddenly high, and this can be traced to excessive oil pumping in one cylinder, the indications are that the piston ring gasps of this cylinder conclusion, however, be sure that the valves of this cylinder seat well and that its spark plug gasket is tight.

Newcomers to motoring mysteries, as well as old timers who are getting back to fundamentals in order to do a better job of keeping the old bus rolling, may wonder why the modern carburetor feeds gas mixture down into the cylinders instead of up into them as in the earlier design. They just assume that gas goes up, thus picturing a downdraft carburetor as something of a misfit. Actually, however, gas vapor is heavier than air. That is best demonstrated by the habit gas vapor has of hovering around the garage floor endangering the lives of those who work under cars in poorly ventilated places. By feeding gas vapor down into the engine instead of up into it we utilize gravity to speed up the gas flow. You get a quicker start with a downdraft system as well as greatly improved efficiency. On the debit side is the increased risk of overchoking.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Something to remember when checking over the seeming detail of making certain the spark plugs tick properly is the fact that any failure in cold weather places a heavier load on the battery and starter-motor. It just means that much longer cranking at a time when every turn of the starter-motor is a real job. Now that most of us are smart enough to use very light oil in cold weather we may be inclined to overlook the possibility that plugs are delaying the start. Instead of the starter being overburdened with several additional laborious turns it will then spin over a greater number of seemingly easy turns only to suffer the same unnecessary wear in the final analysis."

The idea that if one cylinder of an engine isn't in good condition the drop in power and efficiency will be in direct proportion to the part of the engine affected is one that leads to trouble and loss. If there are eight cylinders, and one is "out" altogether by reason of failure of its plug, there will not be 7/8ths of the normal output but probably only three-quarters. This is due to the fact that the lame cylinder affects the others. An extreme and not too accurate comparison is found in the difficulty a horse has in running when only one of his four legs is lame.

Right Tire Goes Wrong

That right front tire continues to be a bit unlucky. It is usually trying to compensate for the crown in the road; indulging in a sort of scuffing wears its tread rapidly and unevenly. It has a rougher road to travel because it rolls closer to the shoulder, and of course it gets all the curb damage during parking. One thing that will help it, other than more thoughtful driving, is to carry it at two pounds higher pressure than its mate.

Maybe you'll never have occasion to replace a fender but just "in case" why not start now to squirt a little penetrating oil over the fender nuts and bolts. This will eat into the rust and pave the way for much easier removal of fenders should you need to order such a job.

Before taking his car to the shop for a valve job a friend of mine spent an hour removing the air cleaner, taking the new spark plugs out of their boxes and checking their gaps, and taking the motor horn bracket off the cylinder head. At the shop he drained off the water and removed the valve cover plates. It helped a lot in getting the job finished in short order.

Some Do; Some Don't

Why some cars have a slip joint at the front end of the propeller shaft, while others are not so blessed or cursed, is a matter which even many experienced motorists do not understand. To grasp the idea it is first necessary to know the difference between shaft action where a car is Hotchkiss driven and where torque tube driven. In the former arrangement the drive is through the springs. It is a flex-

There still is a critical rubber shortage. Most synthetic rubber is needed for vital war requirements. Every American must continue to conserve rubber! Follow the five basic rules of tire conservation from the Office of the Rubber Director:

1. Drive only when absolutely necessary.
2. Keep under 35 miles an hour.
3. Keep your tires properly inflated.
4. Have them inspected regularly.
5. Share your car with others.

INSPECTION

Starts November 1

You must have it done early if you expect to drive your car or truck. Parts are very hard to get and the longer you wait, the worse it will get. The garage man is busier today than ever in the history of automobiles and you help him as well as yourself if you will come in early instead of waiting until the end of the season.

Better Check Your Tires!

If they happen to be badly worn, your car will not pass and you will be without a sticker.

able arrangement wherein the wheelbase actually varies as the car goes over the road. There must, then, be a slip joint just behind the front universal joint in order to take care of this. It is like a splined shaft, and must be lubricated. In those cars which have a torque tube or torque braces for the drive the wheelbase is held constant, and thus no slip joint is needed.

Buyers of used cars frequently write me to ask how they can detect a motor that has been abused. This is not an easy trick, as even the smartest of car buyers will admit. One test is to hold the brake on, put the car in gear and slowly engage the clutch to see if the engine offers any strange noises when under load. Sudden acceleration and deceleration are also helpful in getting a line on the job. It is well to make sure about the grade of oil in the crankcase as often very heavy oil is used to check knocking. On the visual side are some tell-tale marks indicating abuse. A very badly checked exhaust pipe suggest excessive high speed operation. The same for paint peeled off the motor and a very dull hood without similar dulling of the fenders and other parts of the body.

What's on Your Mind?

Q. When stopping for a change of transmission and rear end lube the other day we found that the rear end housing was quite hot. There seemed to be plenty of lube in the gears, and I was not conscious of any noise while driving the car. Does this indicate differential trouble? G. B.

A. It was fortunate that you checked this as it will save you a lot of trouble later. Apparently the lubricant being used in the rear end was not of the extreme pressure type. This is indicated by the letters EP. The rear end of your car calls for EP 90 at this season.

Q. Gas mileage is very poor on my car, and I also have trouble starting. Ignition has been carefully checked. I don't believe I am getting over six miles to the gallon.

A. This looks like a case of a hole in the carburetor float, causing a high fuel level during operation of the engine and a dry float bowl when you try to start.

Q. I recently took delivery of a new 1942 car but have been very disappointed at the oil mileage. I wonder if something has happened to the engine during the long period of storage. H. M. L.

A. I wouldn't worry about this. It is so long since you have owned a brand new car you probably forgot that oil mileage is usually a bit on the poor side until the new rings start to collect a little carbon. This is necessary to help seal the rings and thus bring oil mileage down to normal.

Q. I am installing a hot water heater on my car but wonder where to connect the heater fan into the electrical circuit. Wm. J. F.

A. Connect it on the generator side of the ammeter.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

SMUGGLING PLOT

Philadelphia, Oct. 23 (AP)—Four seamen have been taken into custody and a fifth is being questioned by customs agents in what they term a "possible plot" to smuggle Swiss watches into the country through the port of Philadelphia. All are from a neutral freighter.

Langhorne is coming down Monday from New York. He's been hired to do a special job. He's a construction engineer, and he's going to straighten out some of the bottle-necks in the synthetic rubber building program. He'll probably tangle with a lot of high and mighties before he's through, because the rubber program crosscuts into so many others—like the high octane gasoline program. Ought to be plenty of fireworks. Langhorne is a hard hitter.

"He'll do a lot of travelling too. Inspection trips around the country, visits to synthetic plants. It will be up to you to hold the fort while he's gone—and placate all the people he makes mad. How does that sound?"

"Wonderful. It's just too good to be true. But do you think I've had enough experience, Mr. Chase?"

"You'll need more common sense than anything else. Of course you've got to be efficient, but I think you are—though you haven't had a chance to show it yet. You're friendly—people like you." He smiled at her. "I've been checking up on you."

Sally was startled—and pleased. Mr. Chase had evidently had his eye on her for this new job for some time—all the while she was battling that deadly seven copies and an original.

"Incidentally, there's more money in it. Think you can find a way to spend $1,880?"

"I'll give it away if I can't spend it," Sally laughed.

"You'll be in the same building, Miss Thayer," Mr. Chase went on. "We haven't an office for Langhorne yet, but I'll call you later in the week when we have him located somewhere. Take good care of him. We need his help."

"I can't thank you enough, Mr. Chase," Sally felt as though she were walking on air. She went out of Temporary U light-headed with excitement, remembering a different kind of excitement she'd felt a few weeks ago when she walked nervously down the aisle to Mr. Chase's desk. Only a few short weeks, but how much had happened. And now had come the chance she had dreamed of when she sat in the employment reception room, a chance at a real job.

Back in her building, she was tempted to tell Miss Lyons her good news. But instinct told her to be cautious. It would be better to wait till her new boss really arrived and was on the spot for the duration. There was the famous story of the executive who was asked by the War commission to take a job in Washington. He wound up his affairs in a hurry and rushed down, only to find when he arrived that no one remembered anything about him—or knew what to do with him. Mr. Langhorne would have to be an actuality before Sally spread the news in the office.

At his desk Mr. Chase eyed the new job classification for Sally Thayer. Miss Lyons would be plenty sore at him for snatching her stenographer away from her, after a few

Chapter 9

Sally was shaking with nervousness when she went over to Miss Lyons' desk to ask if she could go over to Temporary U right away. She wanted to go get the interview over with, and not have a worry about it all day. She tried to think what Mr. Chase could want. She had found the work deadly dull, but how her reaction could show up in perfectly routine typing, she didn't know. Perhaps she hadn't worked fast enough, though she felt like a speed demon alongside Mrs. Fenton. The reports she typed all looked innocuous enough. But maybe she'd made a mistake in one of them that was irreparable. She had to know right away.

"Sure, go ahead," said Miss Lyons distractedly. "The boss is on the rampage this morning, so I've got to hot-foot it in there and be a witness while he tells the B. E. W. boys off. If you don't see me when you get back, pick me up at the police station. They'll probably have their stilettoes out before the session is over."

"I'll be back as soon as I can," promised Sally, hurrying away. Riding the escalator down to the first floor, she stopped worrying about her future with the War commission long enough to wonder if she'd ever meet the man she worked for. Except for Miss Lyons' cryptic and not altogether flattering comments on the strangeness of Mr. Farnsworth's ways, she hadn't the faintest idea what the assistant director looked like—or for that matter, what he did. According to Miss Lyons, Mr. Farnsworth was indispensable to the copper division—or thought he was.

Mr. Chase was busy, and Sally had to wait. She took off her scarf, wishing she'd worn a hat to work today. She felt more like a school girl than a war worker on her own in Washington. But only an elegant few of the government girls bothered to wear hats. The secretary to one of Nelson's assistants looked like a walking specialty shop, but she was a shining exception. Ankle socks, white saddle shoes, and peasant scarves were almost a uniform with the government girls. And skirts and blouses. Sally didn't usually bother about her clothes, except to keep them clean, but today she wished she looked a little snappier.

At last she was sitting at Mr. Chase's desk. "Don't look so alarmed, Miss Thayer," he said at once. "Did my note disturb you?"

Sally said frankly, "I've been scared to death since I read it, Mr. Chase."

"Well, you needn't be," he smiled around in his chair. "How would you like a good job?"

Sally stared at him. "What do you mean?"

"That job you have isn't worth two cents. I've got a better one in mind for you, that you can really get your teeth in. More work, by a darned sight, but you'll be right in the thick of it if you work for this man."

Langhorne is coming down Monday from New York. He's been hired to do a special job. He's a construction engineer, and he's going to straighten out some of the bottle-necks in the synthetic rubber building program.
